Performers:

John O'Kane

John is a singer and guitarist from Cambridge, England. His gentle style of finger-picking is his trademark, and with a repertoire of songs spanning six decades of singer/songwriters he has gained many friends around the folk clubs of the U.K. He visits Brisbane annually and has become a semi-regular at Red Hill Folk.

Silken Thomas 3-Piece

Brian Brett, Robin Etter-Cleave and Ian Evans are the three founding members (in 1996) of the 4-5-piece Irish band, Silken Thomas; and they still love playing music together. They'll get you singing along, they'll get your feet tapping, they'll take you to Ireland, around Australia, over to England, up to Canada, and back again. If you like the Pogues, the Sawdoctors, The Fureys or Christy Moore, there's a good chance you're going to love Silken Thomas.

Christine Venner-Westaway

Christine is well-known and loved in Brisbane Folk circles, delighting audiences with her beautiful pure voice and emotive interpretation of songs. Her signature solo work is her Joan Baez Tribute, performed in the UK, interstate and locally. Christine has been a staunch supporter and oft-times performer at Red Hill Folk and Brisbane Unplugged Gigs (Bug) New Farm Bowls Club for the past 13 years.

Something Else

Well-respected soloists Anne Infante and Mary Brettell have been singing together in wondrous harmony since they were THAT slim! Their repertoire covers traditional folk, country, originals, contemporary - and everything in-between. Their songs are selected on a strict principle – if they like it, if it lends itself to good harmony, or if it's simply fun to sing – it's in!

The Red Hill Boys

A bunch of blokes of dubious backgrounds, boisterous talent, and strong presence who just love to sing. If you like lusty male voices, driving foot-tapping rhythm, and gritty full-bodied singing, then you'll love the Red Hill Boys. They have all been around the folk and country music scenes for more years than they care to reveal, and love nothing better than bringing the great music of our past back to life.

Afternoon Tea: Cakes, sandwiches, etc for sale, plus tea and coffee and the club is fully licensed.

Prizes/Raffle: Door prize and multi-prize raffle of wine, chocolates & CDs generously donated by the artists.

Parking: There's a vast car park, so lots of off-street parking, and plenty of room in the venue.

What a great way to spend a Sunday afternoon!
